We cordially invite you to join our Distinguished Lecture Series

“How to defend Trade Cases in US: Lessons Learned from US CVD Investigation on Shrimp”

Matthew J. McConkey

Matthew McConkey is a partner at Mayer Brown. He advises clients on a wide range of international trade matters, with particular emphasis on antidumping and customs issues. In antidumping matters, he defends producers and importers against US, EU, and Chinese dumping allegations. He assists those companies exporting from non-market economy countries with respect to the selection of surrogate values and maximising the impact of various distribution systems on dumping findings.

Regarding customs matters, Matthew has broad range of knowledge on all aspects of the US and Chinese import process, including tariff classification, valuation, country of origin determinations, effective use of tariff elimination or reduction programs, and resolution disputes arising from Customs decisions.
